Don't throw the dirt out of your clothes because your ancestors did. Keep up with the times. Try modern ideas for saving labor. James Pyle's PEARLINE leads all of those which pertain to cleanliness.

What is it that frays your collars, cuffs and shirts and pulls off the buttons and strings? What is it that rubs your paint? It is the old-fashioned way of rub, rub, rub to make clean. PEARLINE does away with most of the rubbing, so it saves the worst of the wear.

You don't want an imitation, do you? Beware of them. PEARLINE is manufactured only by James Pyle, New York, notwithstanding the plausible stories told by peddlers and some grocers to the contrary.

Cumberland

The Allan steamer Polynesian, Captain Ritchie, for Liverpool, sailed from Portland, Friday, with 1,000 head of cattle, 14 cattlemen and 14 passengers.

Thomas Smith of Bridgton, has bought and shipped to Stevens & Co., Boston, this month over 600 barrels of apples, and possibly may buy and forward more. Mr Smith who attains his seventy fourth birthday the month of this month is remarkably active for one of his age. He conducted the business of the apples and attended to all the business himself and was out in every storm except two, paying no heed to frost or weather.

Geo Thomas H Hubbard, of New York city, has generously provided for bronze tablets to be placed in Memorial Hall Bowdoin College, in memory of students and graduates who fought for the Union in the late war. A provisional list of names has been printed and will be supplied by the college librarian. It is just and that circumstances in reported at once, that the list may be finished by January 1 1889. Nearly three hundred names are included in the list already made up.

Sheriff Strout of Charlotte county N B arrested in Portland, Friday, with a warrant for in the Governor General of Canada for the William F Bent who is wanted at Calais for the alleged murder of Wallace Commander and was partly argued before Judge Webb—to which no new point was presented—but no notice of filing of a petition of habeas corpus was served by order of court on District Attorney Bird and Vice Consul Geo H Stair, and after filing a warrant received for Bent's extradition from the United States Secretary of State the case was adjourned to wait instructions from our government.

Charles Ferris the alleged passer of counterfeit money, was brought before United States Commissioner Rand, Friday, and pleaded not guilty. The hearing was brief and mostly preliminary being adjourned to Monday. Two counterfeit bills that were among those that Ferris threw away when he saw the policeman approaching him were found Friday near the Union Station. Thus far about fifteen counterfeit bills have been sent to Marshal Hawkes by different Portland citizens, and probably there are a great many more in circulation here that have not been discovered. Ferris says he has no accomplice and claims that he found the bills in Boston.

Franklin

Joseph G Holman, Esq., has been employed to be the counsel for the Farmington Village Corporation in the litigation over the tax imposed upon Bates Colleges Rubber property. Mr Holman answered for the corporation when the injunction case was called up in the supreme court at Auburn last week and secured an early assignment of the case for trial. The issue is simply whether or not the corporation shall be perpetually restrained from imposing a tax upon the property, writes a Farmington correspondent.

Kennebec

Charles Bell, of Clinton, awaiting sentence for the murder of his father is said to be breaking down somewhat. He has lost much flesh and has a bad cough, which his physicians say is due to heart trouble and that heart disease is setting in.

Mr Harry L Murch of the Elmwood Hotel, Waterville, formerly of the Dellett, Lewiston, is now in Southern California, and is improving in health. Mr Murch has been greatly troubled in the past, with rheumatic troubles, that have quite disappeared under the influence of the climate of the southwest.

An index to the record of attachments is a new feature in the register of probate's office, says the Journal. Years of experience suggested to Mr Fogler the feasibility of compiling some record of this kind and without having anything to copy from, Mr Fogler devised and has had completed an index that greatly facilitates his work and which some other offices in the state would do well to copy.

The streets of Augusta present an animated appearance in spite of the bad travelling says the Journal. There is no doubt but what this city shows a remarkable progress in industrial activity and enterprise during the past year. We have yet to see a city in Maine which in proportion to its population, has done anywhere near the same amount of building during the past year. Augusta is one of the liveliest of the live cities of Maine.

Knox

The Rockland Opinion says two detectives have been in St. George, recently to investigate the incendiary fire of March 14th last, by which the hotel of Mr G A Lynde, at Port Clyde was burned. It is reported that the detectives profess to have evidence enough to warrant the arrest of several persons, both for the crime and for aiding in the concealment of the same.

Lincoln

Friday, Thompson, the man under arrest for attempting the murder of the woman, Annie Bradley, Thursday was arraigned before Justice W S Hagar. It turned out that the woman had left town for Boston, on the Pullman, Thursday night, some person or persons had furnished her money to go. Witnesses testified to the confession of Thompson, that he intended to poison the woman and other circumstances in connection but her testimony was considered necessary to make binding that already offered, and, in her absence, the judge decided that the evidence was not sufficient to hold the prisoner and he was accordingly discharged. Thompson left for Gardiner on the noon train. He says he intends to do better hereafter.

Somerset

The town of North Anson has pledged its support of a new shoe factory, $3,500 has been subscribed by private individuals, and the Waterville Mail says a committee is now in Massachusetts to find some experienced man to engage in the enterprise.

Waldo

A few days ago, a burglar attempted to enter the house of W H Young, in Calais. He tried several windows and then broke through a door, waking the inmates, who gave the alarm and the man fled. A man was arrested and brought before Judge Rounds, but was discharged for want of evidence.

York

Mrs Elmira Tibbetts, an aged lady, a resident of Saco, was found dead in bed, Friday morning, from apoplexy.

A Biddeford gentleman of undoubted veracity is authority for the following: "While en route to Boston, recently, a party of whist players sat directly in front of me and played their favorite game all the way. In fact, finishing up the last game after the cars had drawn into the station at Boston. Their persistence was not so remarkable as the fact that the same trump (spades) was turned up each and every time for the entire distance."

Londoners complain of their Christmas. If they gathered to their dinner in a thunder storm, they walked home through mud and slush.

During the year ending June 30, 1888, the number of acres of government land entered in Florida was 1,380,000—double that of any other southern state.

Charles A Dana has returned from Europe. Joseph Pulitzer is still under the charge of his physicians and lives in a beautiful home on the Long Island shore. He will return in the spring.

Agnes Booth fainted in Captain Swift the other night and was carried off the stage by 3 men. There was much excitement in the house, applauding seriously, thinking it was part of the play.

Richard Mansfield has been sued by Sir Morrell Mackenzie for poisons his opinion is to hard ill for two weeks. He takes his suggestion of the drama. Londoners are hoping that it will be very long before I hear of himself again.

A Paris letter says the whole of Paris was in a state of disappointment. Paris was in a state of disappointment. Paris expected huge talk of the weighing of the Eiffel tower, a tremendous shock and expected to see all his time weighed.

In the shooting at Amsterdam Holland, on the 10th, the prize of one was won by Joseph B Hughes of Newburgh, N Y, in six minutes and twenty four seconds. He defeated Patsy Hin, the Russian champion, who held the distance in six minutes and thirty one seconds.

P T Barnum does not designate the rooms in his lodge at Bridgeport by such every day appellations as green room, blue room, red room, but the different apartments are known as Horace Greeley, Matthew Arnold, Mark Twain and Mary Sister. Here is an idea.

Mr Richard Quay, son of the Pennsylvania Senator is a partner of Senator Cameron in the ownership of a splendid cattle ranch eight miles square, in Mexico. Mr Coleman Sellers and Mr Brewster Cameron are also in the firm. The Cameron's are spending the winter on the ranch and Mr Quay will soon join them there.

Bradley Martin of New York who has rented Balmanno Castle Inverness-shire, during the last four seasons from Lady Menzies, has taken the place for another term of three years. He was unable the adjacent shooting of Lochindorb and his Kingcraigie about 30,000 a year. Mr Martin is known among the old country as "The McMartin of Balmanno."

Instrument lecturer Mr William Blaikie, author of How to Get Strong, contested Thomas A Hill on and Tom Brown on both mile runs. He one forty two years of age the other just double that age. Blaikie never takes any exercise and breathes comparatively little fresh air. Ericsson has experiment tried up in his house, and takes regular exercise every day. Edison is almost fully of a pale of face and stoop. Ericsson has all his organs in their early perfection in spirit of fire, and straight as an arrow.

Senator Coke of Texas says he dislikes receptions because he is always in somebody's way or somebody is in his way. "The first time I was in one of the big receptions I got off in a corner where I thought I was out of the way. Pretty soon along came a lady dressed in black, with one of those dresses that all be train and no top. She commenced to hew and snuff at me, and though I didn't know her I bowed and smiled back. Then she stepped, bowing and smiling, and in a second she was pulling at her dress, that trailed all over the floor. I looked a young fellow standing behind her, and so I reached over and shaking him by the shoulder said 'Why don't you get off the lady's dress?' Well, she looked straight at my feet and by George, I was standing on her dress myself."

Apartment houses have become very fashionable in London. The correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury writes "I do not think that even yet people recognize what an enormous revolution is being wrought in the conceptions of fashionable London about the home. It was no annual but yesterday that it was the ambition of every big chapman to have his own front door. Our ideal was a wholly detached mansion, and some people would have liked to place a moat around their residence, and to have protected the entrance by a portcullis and drawbridge. But all this is changed. The flat system is spreading everywhere. It was thought just good enough for artisans when the model dwelling-house movement was just started. Now the ambition of people seems to be to dwell on a flat in an aristocratic neighborhood."

His Own Architect.

A REMARKABLE MAINE MAN WHOSE CAREER HAS JUST CLOSED.

Our readers are already advised of the death in Washington of a remarkable man, Capt. Albert Grant, who for years has been a successful architect in Washington. Capt Grant was in the best sense the architect of his own fortune. Captain Grant was a carpenter in Frankfort, Me., within the memory of the oldest inhabitants. His father dying when he was but fifteen years old the care of the family devolved to a great extent upon him, and before he was of age he was taking contracts and erecting buildings in his native town. Shortly after attaining his majority he went to Lawrence, Mass., and was there the superintendent of the erection and equipment of the Bay State cotton mills. He was one of the first men in the country to adopt the tub-hoist system and to encourage the mechanics to organize—in fact, it may be said that he was a pioneer of the trades union movement, and was also prominent in the anti-slavery cause. He was extensively engaged in the erection of churches and public and private buildings for some years. In 1862, having married in Lawrence, he left for the West, and was soon engaged in building operations at Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa. In 1867, Milwaukee, Wis., attracted him to that place, and he settled there and erected large rows of dwellings.

He was thus engaged when the war came on, and early in the spring, anticipating trouble at the inauguration of President Lincoln, he organized a company of the leading merchants and brokers of Milwaukee. This company was tendered to Mr Lincoln as a body guard, but did not so act. The organization, however, was kept up for some months, and it had the reputation of furnishing its entire membership as officers of regiments and companies which entered the service of the government. Captain Grant was instrumental in recruiting an Indianapolis regiment, which afterward became the Sixteenth Wisconsin, and he could have had the lieutenant-colonelcy under Col Saunders, but declined, preferring to remain captain of his company. This regiment was attached to the army of the Potomac and the army of the James.

Capt Grant was captured before Petersburg, June 28, 1864, with Capt Schoyler and Lieut D A Fenry of the second Pennsylvania heavy artillery. He and others were sent to Libby prison, then to Danville, and then to Salisbury. He escaped with other prisoners while they were being taken further South, but was recaptured near Granite Hill, N C. He was then sent to Savannah and kept in an underground dungeon for fifteen days. October 19th with three other officers, he jumped from a train of cars containing prisoners, and after walking through the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee for fifty days reached Knoxville, having traveled over 1,000 miles.

At the close of the war he settled in Washington and actively engaged in building operations. The rows of dwellings on East Capitol and A streets north between Second and Third streets stand as a monument to his skill. He was one of the most active soldiers in organizing the Grand Army of the Republic, having been the first commander of A Lincoln post No 1.

He erected the building for the National Orphans Asylum in 1866, and again rebuilt and remodeled the Ross Hospital. He was offered shortly after the war the position of supervising architect of the Treasury but declined it preferring to do business on his own account. He erected the buildings at Schuylkill Seminary, Philadelphia and rebuilt some of the buildings of the Norfolk navy yard. The exposure he had during the war affected his health and left a wreck of what he once was. He however, managed to keep about until about eighteen months ago when he was attacked with pneumonia and loss of sight, and since then has kept to his bed. But several hours a day his faithful stenographer busy writing up his remarkable experiences as a prisoner of war. He died peacefully and calmly in fact was asleep when dissolution came. He leaves four children (Walter and F A Grant and two daughters) all grown. His funeral took place Monday.

Queen City Grange P of H Bangor, met last Saturday evening for the purpose of installing their officers for the ensuing year. The meeting was opened at the appointed hour in ample form, and then a recess was declared for one hour and the members with their invited guests were requested to enjoy the hour socially at the tables which had been tastefully prepared for a harvest feast. At this point, one of the most pleasing incidents of the evening occurred. Two of the lady members requested the audience to remain in their seats, just a moment, before going to the tables and then they passed up in front of the loaning master's table and placed upon it a splendid hand painted china tea set, with silver spoons to match and read the following note which explains itself:

Worthy Master:

Dear friend and Brother—Please accept this small token of our appreciation of your constant devotion to the welfare and the best interest of the Grange through the years you have so faithfully served as Master. Hoping we shall meet you here as many times in the future as in the past, we are your loving brothers and sisters of

QUEEN CITY GRANGE.

That it was a happy surprise to the recipient could not have been doubted by any person present. After giving a moment's thought as to what it all meant the returning master responded in a few words saying that it was the first time in his life he had ever met with such a public demonstration in his behalf and Queen City Grange could feel assured that he recognized in this gift an expression and assurance of their continued respect and confidence, he felt he had done his little during the five or six years he had been honored with the master's chair, and he should work in the future with renewed energy for the welfare and happiness of all within Queen City's gates and strive to extend its good influence upon those outside. He had never had the least reason to doubt the friendship of any member of the order, and this gift was but another evidence of their good will, faith and charity in his behalf.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, Worthy State Deputy, S H Higgins, assisted by Mrs S H Higgins, performed the installation services in a very impressive and acceptable manner. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

Master James Staples, Overseer, Frank Farrar, Lecturer, B A Herr, Steward, — York, Assistant Steward, G Staples, Chaplain, D M Dunham, Treasurer, H M Wentworth, Secretary, Susan B Wentworth, Gate Keeper, A J Brown, Pomona Mrs J D Bartlett, Flora Mrs D M Dunham, Ceres, Mrs M Stockwell, Lady Assistant Steward, Martha Brown.

The following officers of Riverside Grange North Dresser, were installed on the evening of January 10, 1889: Master Geo Gilbert, Overseer, Geo Smart, Lecturer, A W Rowell, Steward, Geo Glover, Asst Steward Geo Clewley, Chaplain, Mrs J E Clewley, Treasurer, J E Clapp, Secretary Lou M Smart, Gate Keeper, Eben Crosby, Ceres, Martha Glover, Pomona Ellen Smart, Flora, Kersie Crosby, Lady Assistant, Fannie Rowell.
